Excerpt: .three full regiments, the appropriate command of a brigadier-general, as recognized bylaw, during time of war. The questions submitted are: 1. To entitle a person to the pay of a brigadier-general for exercising the command of a brigadier-general, under orders issued by competent authority in time of war, is it necessary for the period for which he claims such pay that he command three regiments, each organized with twelve companies, and each company organized as provided by section 2 of the act of April 26, 1898 (30 Stat., 364)? 2. Is it competent for the accounting officers in settling a claim for exercising a higher command to go behind authority given such colonel, assigning him to the command of a certain brigade in such order set out, to inquire as to the number of regimentscomposingthe alleged brigade and the number of companies composing each regiment . 3. What is to be termed a brigade within the purview of the law granting pay for exercising a higher command? 4. In order to receive pay for exercising such higher command is it necessary that during the particular period for which he exercises such command that he be actually in command of three regiments, each consisting at the time of twelve organized companies? 5. Under the facts herein recited, as applicable to Col. William J. Glenn, is he entitled to the pay of a brigadier-general for the periods therein set out? As there are many cases now...
